Lash and Brow Tint and Wax CPD Course | Course author: Jessica Jane Preston | Version 1.0, November 2026

Section 1: multiple choice, 1 mark each

Q	Answer	Correct option
1	b	Forming large colour molecules inside the cortex from small precursors and a developer
2	a	Hydrogen peroxide of about 3% (10 volume), the tint's own
3	b	At least 48 hours before, with the exact tint and developer, recorded
4	b	For every new product family, after a six-month gap, and after any change in health, medication or pregnancy
5	b	Never tint her and never patch test her: she is sensitised to PPD; offer shaping only
6	c	16, because the products carry the warning 'not intended for use on persons under the age of 16'
7	b	The thinnest skin on the body, about half a millimetre, and is never waxed
8	b	Closed and relaxed from the first pad to the last wipe
9	b	Under the lower lashes, on the skin, with the eye closed, not touching the eye
10	b	At one minute, by wiping a small section, and built in stages
11	b	Before waxing, because tint on freshly waxed skin stings, stains and risks sensitising
12	b	Stop, remove the pad and all tint, tilt the head to that side and irrigate with sterile saline from the inner corner outward for at least 10 minutes
13	b	The side of the nostril: straight up past the inner corner, through the outer edge of the iris, and past the outer corner of the eye
14	b	With the hair growth and removed against it, parallel to the skin, with the skin held taut
15	b	On the professional's own inner wrist and then on a small area of the client's skin, before the first application
16	b	Is binned; a fresh spatula is used for every dip
17	b	Is not waxed there until the cream has been stopped for at least seven days; tweezing is the alternative
18	b	During the course and for six months after
19	b	Fourteen days
20	b	Refuse both eyes, suggest a pharmacist or GP, decontaminate and record
21	b	An infection of a lash follicle's gland: no treatment on that eye until resolved
22	b	About four to six weeks, fading as the tinted lashes are shed
23	b	'Defined, waterproof colour that lasts until the lashes naturally shed, usually four to six weeks'
24	b	Cosmetic products under the retained Cosmetics Regulation 1223/2009, with Annex III conditions for professional use on the lashes
25	b	Nitrile gloves for every mix, application and removal; no tint on the skin; ventilation
26	b	Allergic contact dermatitis: no further tint, pharmacist or GP, record and report
27	b	One step lighter than you think, built in stages; it can be darker next time
28	c	Eyebrow shaping by waxing, tweezing and trimming

Section 2: short answer, 2 marks each

29. Describe how you carry out a patch test, from preparation to recording.

- Cleanse a coin-sized area behind the ear or in the inner elbow; mix a small amount of the exact tint and developer in the stated ratio wearing gloves; apply a thin smear, let it dry, leave uncovered and unwashed (1)
- Read at 48 hours (manufacturer or insurer may state 24; the longer applies); any itching, redness, swelling, blistering or burning is positive and means no tint; record date, products, batches, site, result and reader on Form G before mixing anything (1)

30. Name four things that decide how dark a tint result is.

- Any four of: natural hair colour, shade chosen, development time, hair texture or porosity, cleanliness of the hair, developer as specified (2 for four, 1 for two or three)

31. Why are the eyes kept closed and relaxed, rather than closed tightly, during a lash tint?

- Open eyes let tint reach the eye; closed relaxed lids keep the lashes resting on the pads (1)
- Squeezing the eyes contracts orbicularis oculi and pushes anything on the lid margin toward the eye (1)

32. List the contraindications that stop a brow wax but allow a brow tint.

- Any four of: topical retinoids or retinol (stopped under seven days), isotretinoin in the last six months, recent peel, microdermabrasion, laser or IPL, botulinum toxin or filler in the last fourteen days, long-term steroid use with fragile skin, sunburn, moles or skin tags in the wax path (2 for four, 1 for two or three)

33. Explain why one spatula is used for each dip into the wax pot.

- A spatula that has touched skin carries skin cells, bacteria and viruses (cold sores, warts, staphylococcus) into the pot (1)
- The next client's face receives them; the pot is warm, not sterilising; there is no 'clean-looking skin' exception (1)

34. Describe the removal of a lash tint, step by step, with the client's eyes still closed.

- Dry pad first from the roots outward and down onto the under-eye pad to lift the bulk; then damp pads one at a time from the inner corner outward until a fresh pad comes away clean (1)
- Slide the under-eye pads out and down, wipe the lower lashes, wipe and dry the inner corner and lid, then ask the client to open slowly and hand them a damp pad (1)

35. What do you record after a brow wax and tint, and why?

- Patch test checked; tint shade or mix, developer, batch numbers and development time; wax type, temperature test, areas waxed, tweezed and trimmed; mapped points and shape; contra-actions; aftercare and rebooking date; signatures (1)
- So the service can be repeated or adjusted, so a reaction can be traced to a product and batch, and because the insurer defends a claim on the record (1)

36. A client is 17 and wants a brow tint. What is needed before you proceed?

- She is 16 or over so the product's age warning is met; written parental or guardian consent and the insurer's agreement for a client under 18 (1)
- A negative recorded patch test with the exact products at least 48 hours before, the full consultation and, where the insurer or school requires, a parent present (1)

Section 3: scenarios, 3 marks each (one mark per point, any order; equivalent wording accepted)

37. Scenario A. A regular client arrives for her usual lash and brow tint and brow wax. Her last visit was seven months ago; she tells you she has had a baby since and is breastfeeding. Her eyes and skin look healthy. Set out what can be done today, what cannot and why, what you say, and what you record.

- Recognises that more than six months have passed and that pregnancy and breastfeeding change skin sensitivity, so a new patch test with the exact products is required before any tint; no lash or brow tint today (1)
- Offers the brow wax and shape today after the full consultation (asks about medication, skin products, injectables, breast-feeding does not stop waxing), temperature test, mapping, one pass, taut skin; carries out the patch test for the tints today and books the tint for 48 hours or more later (1)
- Explains kindly that the test protects her eyes and that the insurer requires it; records the consultation changes, the patch test on Form G with products and batches, the wax service on Form C and the rebooking; checks the insurer's position on breastfeeding and follows it (1)

38. Scenario B. Two minutes into a lash tint the client raises her hand and says her left eye is stinging. Describe exactly what you do next, in order, what you say, what you do with the right eye, and what goes in the record.

- Stops at once; tells the client calmly that she is going to take the tint off and rinse the eye; removes the under-eye pad and every trace of tint from the left eye with damp pads with the eye still closed; tilts the head to the left and irrigates with sterile saline from the inner corner outward for at least ten minutes; contact lens out once irrigation has begun; no rubbing (1)
- Removes the tint from the right eye too (the development cannot be supervised while irrigating and the client is distressed); does not restart tinting today; checks the left eye: stinging that settles is recorded, persistent pain, blurred vision, light sensitivity or redness means NHS 111, an optician or A&E; cool compress; aftercare (1)
- Records on Form E: time, eye, products, shades, batches, development time reached, what was seen, irrigation time, advice given, witnesses; reviews why it happened (pad placement, too much product, eye squeezed, product creeping to the margin); informs the insurer if any symptom persisted; reports a serious reaction to the manufacturer (1)

Marking rules

- Total 50. Pass mark 40 (80%). Partial credit applies in Sections 2 and 3 as shown; no partial credit in Section 1.
- Equivalent wording is accepted throughout. Development times within the manufacturer's stated range are accepted; a patch-test interval shorter than 24 hours is not. Spelling and grammar are not marked; a reasonable adjustment that records oral answers is marked on content alone.
- Safety-critical errors: an answer anywhere on the paper that instructs tinting without a recorded negative patch test, tinting a client under 16, tinting with the eyes open, leaving tint in an eye without irrigating, waxing the eyelid, reusing a spatula, waxing over a contraindicated area or treating a red, sticky or swollen eye is discussed with the learner and corrected before a pass is recorded, whatever the score. Record the correction on the front sheet.
- A learner who scores below 40 may re-sit the paper once, after a minimum of seven days' further study. The re-sit uses this paper; the tutor questions the learner orally on any item answered the same way twice.
- Keep the marked paper in the learner's portfolio with the practical marking sheet (L04) and the case-study log (manual Form D).
